

Workshop on tracer study of females and special needs graduates who were supported by Sida/Sweden

Office of Women, Children and Youth Affairs (OWCYA) of Addis Ababa University (AAU) in collaboration with Sida organized a tracer study workshop focused on Females and special needs graduates to assess their achievements and experiences at Sarem International Hotel on 21 January 2021.

Banner posted at the main entrance of Addis Ababa University (AAU), Addis Ababa, organized by Women, Children and Youth Affairs Directorate of AAU Ethiopia with special focus on females and special needs graduates sponsored by Sida and AAU, Sarem International Hotel on 21 January 2021.

Mrs. Matebie Tarekegn, Director of Women, Children and Youth Affairs Directorate of AAU delivering her welcoming speech

Dr. Mulumebet Mulugeta, Academic Vice President of AAU and guest of honor of the workshop delivering her opening speech.

Professor Brook Lemma, Coordinator of Sida Projects at AAU delivering a key note address on Sida support to AAU

Professor Yalemtehai Mekonnen, first female professor of Ethiopia and expert on gender policy delivering keynote address to participants

Dr. Berhanu Aberra presenting his findings on the achievements of Sida supported females and special needs students that graduated with masters' degrees currently working at various national universities and NGOs in Ethiopia

Dr. Mitikie Molla, Vice President for Research and Technology Transfer of AAU making closing remarks at the workshop

Sida supported female and special needs masters graduates now employed in various national universities and NGOs. Left to right: Special needs graduates Mr. Tilahun Bedada and Mr. Terefe Mihret; females Mrs. Fentanesh Anley, Ms. Banchaymolu Terefe, Ms. Fasika Chekol (front), Ms. Mary Ayele and middle Professor Brook Lemma, AAU-Sida Projects Coordinator.

Group photo of the participants of the tracer study workshop organized by Women, Children and Youth Affairs Directorate of AAU with special focus on females and special needs graduates sponsored by Sida and AAU, Sarem International Hotel on 21 January 2021.

